

home

enjoyEngland.com

CLICK HERE FOR MORE SPECIAL ATTRACTION OFFERS

search

web

UK sites

this site

Travel

Contents

holiday ideas

flights

weird world new

long haul

hotels

sun holidays

car hire

uk breaks

food

travel forums

related areas

travel essentials

currency & converter

travel insurance

traffic info

The beer lover's guide to the world

The pub crawl was once a simple, low-key affair, pottering between various hostelries, quaffing ale to the accompaniment of sophisticated conversation and a few packets of dry roasted peanuts before staggering home with some ill-advised takeaway food clasped to your bosom. But no longer...

The Australian Thirsty Swagman company (who else?) has come up with the idea of the world's longest pub crawl – a mammoth 25-day drinking session taking in a liver-defying 12 nations and 60 pubs around the globe.

Just 25 thirsty individuals will be able take the trip, which starts in London next March and allows participants to sample the various beers of cities including Prague, Munich, Phuket, Auckland and Reykjavik. Included in the £5,000 price are all flights and accommodation, although you'll have to pay for all your own drinks...

But if you don't have a spare five grand lying around – or just don't fancy a month-long hangover – join us as we look at some of the world's best destinations for beer lovers. We've scoured the globe for the top places to sink a pint, from the Cotswolds to Brazil. Hit California's hip microbreweries, down a pint of the black stuff in Dublin or tour a brewery in Prague – just make sure you can find your hotel afterwards...

First up: The daddy of all beer festivals >>

flights

hotels

car hire

cottages

sur find a flight Powered by SideStep

From: _____ To: _____

Return One way

Depart: 28 November 07 Return: 05 December 07

Adults: 1 Children: 0 (2-11)