Oktoberfest Tour Takes Twenty Four to Four World Record Setting Destinations

Australian-based tour operator, Thirsty Swagman (www.ThirstySwagman.com), offers travellers an Oktoberfest adventure with a difference. The tour, limited to 24 travellers, includes four world record-holding party destinations on a 12-night pub crawl through Europe.

Perth, Australia – May 17, 2009 – Oktoberfest always attracts its fair share of international travellers. This year when 24 of those travellers kick off the festivities with Australia's Thirsty Swagman touring company (www.ThirstySwagman.com), their beer tent onslaught only marks the beginning. What follows is a 12-night "world record party" excursion for beer-thirsty holidaymakers.

The multi-country pub crawl will take in five European destinations, four of which hold a drinking-related world record: Oktoberfest – the world's biggest beer festival with 6.1 million visitors; Dusseldorf, Germany – the world's longest bar with over 360 pubs end-to-end; Bamberg, Germany – home of the world's greatest number of breweries per capita; Prague, Czech Republic – highest annual beer consumption on earth with 156.9 litres per person. The fifth destination, Maria Alm, Austria, will take tour-goers to an exclusive chalet at 4000 feet.

"From the biggest beer festival on the planet to the longest bar on earth, every night will be a smorgasbord of beer swilling fun" said Kenneth Hart, founder of Thirsty Swagman Pty Ltd. "There's no boring sight-seeing – just 12 nights of party heaven. The weak need not apply."

The world record travel outing, dubbed "Euro Hard'n'Fast," is accepting only 24 people, and is a practical travel option for solo travellers or a small group of friends.

"Travellers going to Oktoberfest in Munich usually go to Europe for at least a few weeks, and this provides them with an opportunity to enjoy a bit of international nightlife in a safe and fun tour environment" said Karen Logan, Party and Events Manager at Thirsty Swagman. "They will see some of the finest sights Europe has to offer – the inside of its beer tents, bars and pubs."

The Euro Hard'n'Fast tour is €1990 and includes all transport from Munich through the end of the trip, three-star twin-share accommodations (including breakfast), entry to Oktoberfest beer tents, pubs and bars with discount drinks available at some, video production, t-shirts, and a bilingual party / tour guide.

About Thirsty Swagman Pty Ltd:

Thirsty Swagman was launched in April 2007 to provide an alternative to the usual sight-seeing and experience tours. All trips by the company offer a purely pub- and bar-based itinerary, usually taking in the local nightlife and covering multiple countries.
